

Strategic Educational Plan – Follow-up 2026–2027

EduTWIns Foundation From Curriculum to Classroom: Child-Centred Education in Ghana

EduTWIns Foundation is working towards sustainable, child-centred education in Ghana, in which teachers are the driving force of change. Our goal is to create education that actively engages children, encourages critical thinking, and fosters collaboration — education that does not depend on resources, but on vision and teacher action. In 2025–2026 we laid the foundation with three schools in Nkoranza, where co-teaching and workshops formed the first step towards Boabeng as Model School 2050.

In 2026–2027 we are deepening this work into a regional network. In Nkoranza North we are expanding with workshops in Fiema 2 and nine surrounding villages. In Sunyani we are strengthening active and reflective learning at the Solomon Bennett Memorial School. In Accra we are working together with Women in Focus to offer girls a broader platform, and we are starting with two schools.

In addition, our partnership with Atebubu College of Education (AteCOE) and the Together We Thrive Community Foundation is being structurally embedded. In this way, we connect education, community, and future-oriented leadership. This phase marks the transition from pilot to regional model — one step closer to our goal: education in which every teacher and student learns to shape their own future.

This infographic shows the development of the EduTWIns Strategic Educational Plan from the start phase (2025–2026) to the regional expansion (2026–2027). During this period, EduTWIns grows from three schools in Nkoranza into a network extending to Atebubu, Sunyani, and Accra. The focus is on teacher action, active and reflective learning, and collaboration with local partners such as Together We Thrive, Board of Education North and South, AteCOE, and Women in Focus. In this way, we are building step by step towards sustainable, child-centred education that is rooted in the community and aligned with Ghana's Education Strategic Plan and the SDGs.
